WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!
PLEASE REMEMBER THIS.

For nearly thirty years the Editor of The Ledger has labored for Republican success in Kentucky—for the nominees of the party for county, state and National offices.

To all that time he has never received as much as a copper cent for keeping the names of nominees at the head of the Editorial column; nor has he ever received a solitary penny for the thousands of columns of matter that he has written and printed under the names of candidates for office.

On the contrary, the vast majority of those he has supported, and whose claims were urged before the party, were not even remembered to the paper!

To paraphrase an old saw, it has been "All work and no pay."

So last year a new leaf was turned, and the names of the party candidates did not appear at the head of these columns.

As the omission was the subject of some comment by persons who probably think a Republican Editor in Kentucky is a veritable gold mine—advantage is now taken, when no campaign is on, to state the why, and, to remind candidates of the future that if they wish their names kept standing at the head of these columns during a campaign they must pay for such advertisement.

THE LATE WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN is actually going to write a book, and its title will be "The First Battle." He isn't the first raw recruit who has been licked in his first battle without knowing it.

HON. GALUCHA A. GROW of Pennsylvania has clearly justified his name. He was first elected to Congress in 1859. He has continued to grow until he is now Congressman-at-Large, while his majority has grown from about 500 to 297,448, the largest ever cast for any Congressman.

THE ARKANSAS Thomas Cat rises up on his hind legs and delivers this remark: "Yo' kin seldom get a man's honest opinion of he knows what answer yo' want—Does 'Link' ob 'me-mor' when yo' kin trouble; 'Link' ob a year from 'me-mor'—Yo' frien's af' hee afraid to do yo' a favor, 'fearin' his wud displease yo' enemy."

An alleged scheme of London speculators to control the cables and make millions on stocks, by reporting the election of BRYAN, has been disclosed. Who could for one moment have supposed that such a virtuous set of cut-throats as the British Bryanites would have entered into a conspiracy to earn an honest penny?

The Frankfort Capital has discontinued its Daily and returned to its Weekly edition. This is to be regretted, for the Daily Capital was not only one of the brightest but it was one of the most potent factors in the late campaign. Its daily visits will be missed; but there's some cheer in the fact that its wholesome teachings will at the end of each week.

Advocate of Property.

THE LEDGER was insistent throughout the late campaign that the election of McKinley meant the restoration of Confidence and the immediate resumption of Manufacturing and Commercial Business throughout the country.

It is useless now to argue the question; it is settled by the result—and that our readers may see who was right THE LEDGER will give, from day to day, a partial list of the industries that are reviving under the assurance that the incoming Administration will be friendly to American interests.

Preparations have been completed to put in operation early next week Coke Furnace No. 3, at Sheffield, Ala., owned by the Sheffield Coal, Iron and Steel Company. The company now has one furnace in full blast, and cannot keep up with orders for pig iron. A furnace at Florence, Ala., will also "blow in."

The deposits of the New York Clearing-house Banks for the week just ended exceed $500,000,000 for the first time since December 28th, 1895. The bank statement for the week showed a total deposit of $502,045,000, or an increase since November 7th last of $63,008,000. The gain has been at the rate of $15,900,000 a week since Monday following election.

The loans for the week show an increase of nearly $30,000,000. This statement shows that the triumph of honest money has restored confidence and caused the redeposit of hoarded funds.

IT'S A DIRTY LIE!

Plain Language, and Applies to 'Leslie's Weekly.'

ATTACK ON GOV. BRADLEY.

The Governor Ably Defended by a Writer Who Knows Facts.

SLANDERER SCOURGED.

Frankfort Roundabout.

KENTUCKY.

The eyes of the country have been fixed upon Kentucky for eighteen months past. She used to be securely in the Democratic column and was good for almost any majority. Last year the Democratic candidate for Governor yielded to the silver heresy, and he was beaten by the Republican competitor by 9,000 votes.

Kentucky on the question of Sound Money seemed now secure for the right. But one year of the Administration of the Republican Governor was sufficient to reduce the 9,000 plurality almost to the vanishing point. Governor Bradley is not only the first Republican Governor of the state, but he is the first "poor white" as the Negroes describe the class to which he belongs—to hold that exalted office.

And he will probably be the last of his class to be so honored in a long time. Noisy truculent when he should have been quietly brave, sensationally hysterical when he should merely have been firm, he split up his party, threw away the support of new allies, and very nearly succeeded in turning this state over to the enemy.

Better a week of Joe Blackburn than a year of Bill Bradley. But why should we have either—Leslie's Weekly.

FRANKFORT, November 30th, 1896.

Editor Roundabout: Will you permit me to use the necessary space in the columns of your paper to answer the above villainously slanderous article?

In the first place, allow me to say the writer shows his ignorance of matters in Kentucky from the very start. He asserts that one year ago Kentucky was securely landed on the side of Sound Money, and yet if he had taken the trouble to refer to the figures of that election he would have seen that the vote stood—Republicans, 173,280; Democrats, 167,706; Populists, 17,121, which, if he had added the Democratic and Populist vote together, would have given the silver party a vote of 180,827, and a majority of 8,547.

He then fails to say, what he ought, even in common honesty to say, that the victory was won by the dauntless courage and square stand taken by the man he now seeks to slander and malign, and who was the first leader of any party to state that position.

At the next place he goes out his way to tell a plain square lie, when he says that Governor Bradley belongs to the class of people styled by the Negroes "poor white trash." While it is true he has made his own way in life, unaided by riches or family influence, his father was a lawyer of large practice and always lived comfortably, but was not a man to accumulate property.

We now come to the assertions in regard to the Governor's course since he has been in office. There is no man that dare assert, in Kentucky, that W. O. Bradley ever truckled to any living man, or that he was "sensationally hysterical" at any time.

I know whereof I affirm when I say that there were times last winter when, but for the cool, firm and masterly hand of W. O. Bradley, Kentucky's capital would have been deluged in blood. It will not do for supercilious critics, a thousand miles away, to undertake to discuss men and things here, the matters that he knows no more about the matters that this slanderer shows that he does about the real facts in this case.

Governor Bradley has not split up his party; he has not thrown away the support of any allies that were won last year. In order to prove the utter ignorance of the guy who wrote the above, I have only to give the official figures of the late election to show whether the Governor has shown any disposition to "throw away the support of new allies." McKinley received 218,175 votes; Bryan, 217,000. When we take Bradley's vote of 178,000 from McKinley's vote, it shows the tremendous gain of 41,175—the good Lord send us some more "throwing away" of the same kind every year.

Governor Bradley has made waste, conservative, honest, brave and upright Governor. Kentuckians know it and so do men who know enough to go in out of the rain, and who will give a single day's investigation of the facts, will deny it.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Glague (Ind. Ter.) Chf.
